FIND YOUR style

Your remodel should not reflect a fad, a movement or your neighbors' attitudes. It should be all you.

You make choices every day that are great clues to your personal style. The clothes you wear. The car you drive. The drink you order. The greeting card you buy. The screen saver on your computer. And a zillion other choices you make during the course of your day-to-day life.

PERSONAL STYLE IS ALL ABOUT THE THINGS YOU LOVE

To get a great head start on defining your style so that you can ultimately share it with your designer, it really helps to put together a collection of the things that you love. Include everything. Surf the web. Get shots of your favorite kinds of furniture, room settings, paintings and posters. Cut out pictures from magazines—and not just remodeling magazines, but People, Rolling Stone, Vanity Fair and anything else that defines a style you are drawn to, even if it's not a shot of an interior. Have a look at artifacts from your travels. A rug, a statue, even a snapshot of a garden, landscape or cityscape can help define your style and could be the spark that creates a living space that is uniquely you.

TRANSLATING THE THINGS YOU LOVE INTO THE PERFECT LIVING SPACE

The first time you meet with your designer, bring your style collection with you. Explain why you chose what you did. Fear not—you won't be considered foolish. Your elements of style will speak to him or her on a level too deep for words. A good designer will take your input, process it and translate it into a new living space that's all about you—your style and personality. You and your Waypoint® authorized designer will be off to a great start.

THE FOLLOWING PAGES ARE MEANT TO INSPIRE YOU

They explore styles and personalities that are a culmination of the many things people love. Sunsets, treasured objects, colors, culinary passion, the arts and so much more—all translated into exceptional living spaces.

TRENDS WE Love

With a shade of grey for every taste, it's no wonder that a living space designed in Sleek & Chic style is one that leaves an impression. Begin with the modern furnishings you find most appealing and then add colorful accents with natural materials and metallic touches. Your style may be simple, but within those clean lines it's anything but one-note.

CREATE YOUR STYLE

One door style doesn't mean just one look. The door is like a canvas on which you can create a surprisingly wide variety of looks. Choose darker or lighter stains and finishes to create a dramatically different feeling. Add to that your choice in hardware to refine the look, and suddenly you're achieving a style that's all you! It's the details that will establish your unique living space. A Waypoint® authorized designer can help you choose the right combinations to be sure that you are pleased with your results.

And just when you thought the fun was all over, you realize that you're just getting started. Now you get to choose those finishing touches and furnishings throughout your new living space—details that will create that "Wow!" reaction from friends and family for years to come.

CREATE A LOOK WITH CHARACTER

A Waypoint® designer can set you up with the perfect hardware. Choose beveled knobs, satin nickel pulls or cup pulls. Consider open shelving and a recessed door cut for variety. And finally, brew a pot of tea with a stick of cinnamon in it to engage yet another sense.

410 PAINTED STONE

540 CHERRY SLATE

This style embodies a sophisticated vision of well-being. A neutral palette of ivory, beige and white is lightweight enough to support a plank table or brown wood sideboard. Place settings with burlap, linen and snowberries give a comfortable, modern feel. A loosely gathered centerpiece of flowers from the garden, mixed with greenery, romanticizes simple white china, everyday glass tumblers and flatware. Bring loved ones together in your kitchen, and work the crossword puzzle over frittatas and fruit.

DESIGN TIP | Each time you open your cabinet for a wine glass or set of dinner plates, you'll be reaching for the hardware you've selected. It's important to find the knob, pull, tab or cup that suits your style.

Inspired by the southern French countryside: handmade tile, stone floors, open shelving and glass doors, and distressed woodwork equal sophisticated charm. Set a simple table. This is no place for fussiness. Matchy-matchy belongs elsewhere. This style calls for uncomplicated earthenware, simple linen serviettes and silver. A sprig of lavender at each plate adds nonchalant notes of enchantment. For another twist, arrange bunches of handpicked herbs and citrus over a table runner. Layers of damask and linen are always appropriate. Finally, add warmth with glowing votives tied with twine.

LIVING IN STYLE HAS NEVER BEEN MORE ACHIEVABLE

Your way of life has evolved, and so should your living spaces. Work with a Waypoint® designer to plan a living space that reflects who you are now. Light, natural colors achieve a feeling of sophistication, while classic lines and mitered, recessed door cuts contribute to a contemporary look. Add energy to any space with color or patterns—or perhaps some of the new colorfully elegant appliances.

This style is a thoughtful balance of traditional and contemporary styles. Evolved Elegance calls for a sophisticated table setting with a hint of glamour. Elevate a classic mix of black, gold and ivory with stacked plates, patterned and geometric. Break with tradition by skipping the tablecloth; add antique goblets lest you stray too far. Slip a bit of greenery between the napkin and ring with a soft white bud and the look is complete. The elegance of yesterday enchants today with textures and details.

REMODELING?

CHOOSE WAYPOINT® AND WORK WITH A PRO

WITH A WAYPOINT® DESIGNER, YOU'LL GET EXACTLY WHAT YOU HAD IN MIND

You've got a sense of style that is unique to you. You may even have a vision of your new kitchen or bath and the feeling you want to create. But even if you are a can-do person who can make anything happen, remodeling a living space yourself without experienced professional support can be disastrous financially; and worse, it can cause undue stress on you and your family. The following is a list of things to keep in mind as you embark on your remodel journey.

GET THE REMODEL YOU WANT WITHOUT ALL THE DRAMA

Unfortunately, in many cases, when it comes to remodeling, "do it yourself" often means do it over. Remember when you tried to color your own hair with that $5 box of name-brand dye and then ended up spending $250 for color correction? Ouch! And you got off easy compared to a remodel debacle.

Mistakes on a remodel can escalate into the thousands quickly. Like that outlet behind the dishwasher that was not anticipated and means pulling out the cabinets and getting the electrician back. Or that wall you were going to move until the county inspectors advised you that the wall was load-bearing—after you ordered your cabinets that now won't fit.

You'd do well to call on a Waypoint® designer, who is armed with the resources, products and knowledge you need to help you anticipate all the important details. And you'd be surprised to find out that hiring a designer is quite affordable, especially when you consider that one mid-project mistake can escalate costs beyond your budget.

GET A STYLE THAT'S ALL YOU WITH WAYPOINT®

Sit down with a Waypoint® designer and talk about all the beautiful things in life that move you: your favorite colors, favorite movie, pins from Pinterest and Houzz that inspire and excite your sense of style. Speak to that fabulous rug, artifact or painting you just had to have but somehow doesn't work with anything else in your home—yet.

Share about your family and a typical year of activities and needs. Your Waypoint® designer will translate all these musings into a space that is a perfect fit for you and your way of life. The right door styles, finishes, decorative accessories, textures and details will be selected with all in mind to create a fabulous new kitchen, bath or living space that's all you. Your designer will be your guide through every step of the process, from design, demolition and installation to celebration, making your remodel experience easier than you thought possible.

QUALITY CABINETRY IS ALWAYS IN STYLE

Every Waypoint® cabinet is built to withstand day-to-day life in your home and is backed by a Limited Lifetime Warranty. Every door style and finish in Waypoint's collection is created with pride and built right here in America.

When you buy Waypoint®, you're buying from a manufacturer with many facilities across the U.S. and over 40 years of experience building quality cabinetry that today is functioning beautifully in thousands of homes. When homeowners choose Waypoint®, they not only get the look and style they want, they also get a great feeling knowing that they are supporting thousands of employees and families right here in America.

Waypoint Living Spaces® is proud of its KCMA certification, its participation in the Environmental Stewardship Program and taking measures to protect this beautiful world we all share.

STANDARD OVERLAY OR FULL OVERLAY. WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

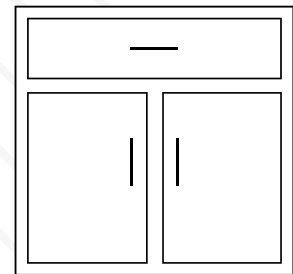

For starters, there are two categories of cabinet doors: standard and full overlay.

A full overlay door just means that the door or drawer front covers most of the cabinet frame. This seamless appearance produces a more modern look.

A standard overlay allows 1-1/16" exposure of the cabinet frame, creating a more traditional look.

MASTERING THE ART OF REMODELING BEGINS WITH CABINETS 101

You're flipping through the pages of the Waypoint® home remodeling magazine, and that can mean only one thing: There's a new living space in your future. For most of us, remodeling a room is not something we do on a regular basis. That lack of experience can be daunting, and one of the best things you can do, along with talking to a Waypoint Living Spaces® designer, is to learn some cabinetry basics.

WHY WAYPOINT® CABINETS MAKES SENSE

Waypoint® cabinets are made of quality materials and backed with a Limited Lifetime Warranty. With a range of door styles, color choices, finishes and decorative accessories, Waypoint® meets a homeowner's needs at a cost usually reserved for entry-level cabinetry. Waypoint® cabinetry is sold exclusively through independent dealers/designers—talented professionals who will help find the style that is uniquely you and who can make sure your new living space is exactly what you have in mind.

Adding value to your home is very soothing

RELAX. REVITALIZE. REINVENT YOURSELF.

Your time spent in the bathroom is important. Weekdays, it may be where you quickly prepare for your day, and evenings and weekends, it may be where you take some time to unwind. Investing in a bathroom remodel is of great value—not just physically and emotionally, but financially, too.

On average, a midrange bathroom remodel will produce a 64% return on investment, according to the Remodeling 2020 Cost vs. Value Report,* which means it's an investment with high returns on many levels. Work with a Waypoint® designer to create your own private retreat. Lighter cabinet finishes with neutral paint, and dark but muted colors, will energize you and prepare you for your day or soothe you in the evenings. Lose the clutter and stay organized with cabinets and drawers that keep all your toiletry items out of sight, maintaining a spa-like cleanliness. Scented candles and aromatherapy soaps will add to ambiance and help you relax. Waypoint's range of products ensures that no matter your budget, your investment can transform your bathroom into your own personal luxury space.

BO HUTCHISON

A&B Cabinet Supply
Paris, KY
www.kykitchens.com
@abcabinetsupply

As the “B” in A&B Cabinets, Bo Hutchison was destined to play a role in his family’s business. And so it was. 18 years ago, with a newly minted degree in business and computer information systems, Bo purchased his father’s cabinet business. Armed with cutting-edge computer skills and a fresh perspective, his unbridled passion took the business to a whole new level.

Tell us something that your customers would be surprised to know about you.

My path to becoming a designer was paved by exploring hobbies but none of them gave me the same satisfaction as design. I’ve tried everything, from playing guitar to woodworking and even kayaking, and I still enjoy designing the most. Fortunately, these activities allowed me to broaden my creative horizons—adding a fresh perspective to my designs.

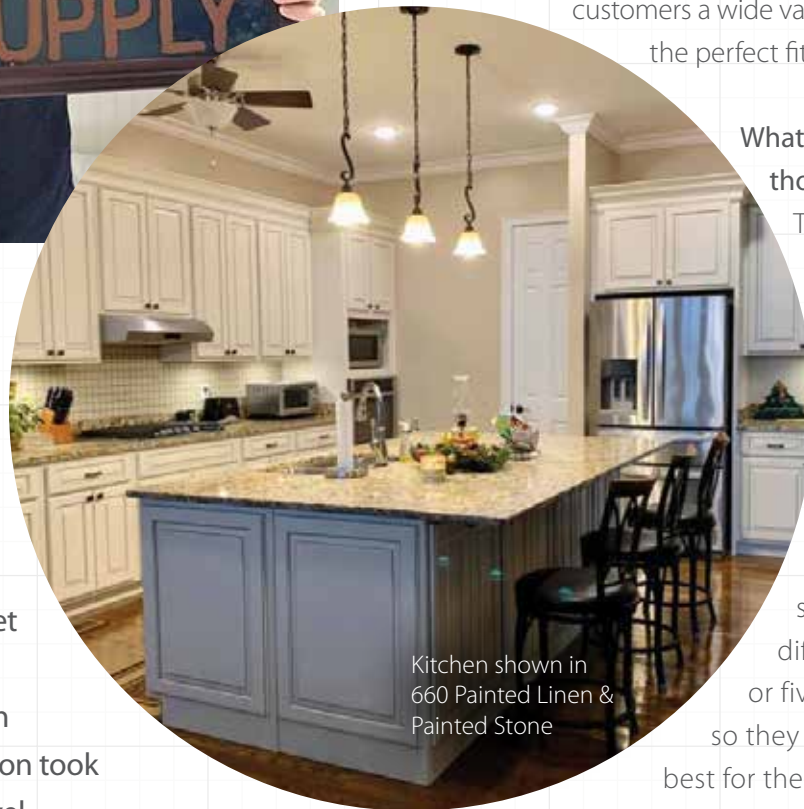

From computers to cabinets, this family means business.

Why did you select Waypoint to be your sole cabinet vendor?

The Partner Team, job site delivery, 2020 and excellent marketing materials like the magazine make the company, as a whole, a good fit. We use the Style Quiz to get customers pointed in the right direction. Then, Waypoint makes it so easy for us to show customers a wide variety of options. Waypoint is the perfect fit for my business!

What advice do you have for those considering a remodel?

Trust a professional. I see so many people who get pigeonholed by the footprint of their kitchen and it doesn’t have to be that way. When their kitchen was designed, it was used differently. Times change and so should the space. Each customer is different so I show them four or five different design options so they can determine which is best for them.

For you, what’s the biggest compliment or measure of success?

Happy customers who refer their friends are a compliment, but when customers refer their family members, you know they really trust us. I’ve done remodels for three different generations in one family—grandparents, parents and their kids. This company is built on longstanding relationships.

Family values and a passion for remodeling are the key ingredients in this family’s recipe for success.

DEVIN MEARIG

dRemodeling
Philadelphia, PA
www.dremodeling.com

Which design trends do you envision standing the test of time?

We all know that 410 Painted Linen (Shaker) cabinets are king but as far as trends go, I see a lot of people incorporating natural wood, with white cabinets, to add warmth. Going with a light, bright palette gives the design flexibility and longevity. You can always add pops of color for contrast, something special that can be changed later.

For what reason do your clients select Waypoint cabinets?

Waypoint offers a great price point, well-crafted cabinets that are built in the USA—that's really important to our clients.

Do you have any tips for optimizing small spaces?

Because we're in Philadelphia, we design quite a few brownstones with limited space. That really impacts the way we design the space. Flexible storage becomes very important. I love using rollout trays and tiered drawer storage. Small spaces need to be simple and serve multiple functions. To ensure an airy feeling, small spaces definitely need to be light and bright.

Kitchen shown in 410 Painted Linen

Designing kitchens is only natural.

Devin Mearig began reimagining living spaces as a child. She graduated from Philadelphia University (now Jefferson), a college ranked Top 10 in the nation for their Interior Design program and has since made her passion, a career. Her ability to create naturally inspired, functional living spaces is nothing short of amazing.

Tell us something that your clients would be surprised to know.

I am very focused on eco-friendly, sustainable designs. I grew up in rural Lancaster County and spent a lot of time outdoors. I have a strong connection to nature so protecting it has always been important to me. It's top of mind in everything I do.

Naturally, Devin's gift for thoughtful design will continue to brighten homes all over Philadelphia for many years to come.

Remodeling vision that's nothing short of magic.

I always order the Waypoint consideration basket, which includes the Waypoint magazine, and everyone loves the inspiration it provides! Kitchen shown in 604 Painted Harbor

Has the role of the kitchen changed since you started designing?

Oh, yes! I was just looking at remodel pictures from 10 years ago and they look ancient! We've raised the bar for the kitchen and the styles have really changed. Today's kitchen is the heart of the home so, the style needs to reflect that level of comfort.

With a reputation as an artful designer, Lorraine Beggs's ability to transform a homeowner's vision into reality is truly nothing short of magic. But, it hasn't always been that way. When her brother opened Concepts The Cabinet Shop in 2003 and enlisted her help, Lorraine was testing hearing aids for a living. Eager to help, she embraced the challenge with the same passion with which she now designs. Self-taught, she admits design has become her life.

When designing a new space, how do you begin the design process?

I design exclusively for my clients and everyone is different. Their function influences my design. You have to get creative because a fair number of people have a vision, but many do not. In our initial meeting, we create a remodel wish list. For visual reference, we have a catalog of our remodel photos.

Which of the current trends do you envision standing the test of time?

White and grey shaker cabinets are definitely here to stay. Adding lighter wood finishes and contrasting cabinets, like Maple Espresso, offers a nice contrast to light, painted cabinets. Islands give people a place to gather, dine and provide creative storage, so they aren't going anywhere either.

It comes as no surprise that Lorraine receives rave reviews from clients. Her transformative powers are extraordinary.

FRANK CANOVA

Diablo Valley Cabinetry
San Ramon, CA
@diablovallecabinet

In 2003, Frank Canova brought his technology and engineering expertise to the family business his father founded 21 years prior, and he's never looked back. And, he's even learned a little woodworking along the way. As the president of Diablo Valley Cabinetry, Frank's greatest satisfaction comes from creating something real that families can enjoy for many years to come.

Tell us something about yourself that your customers would be surprised to know.

Surprisingly, my background has nothing to do with woodworking, cabinetry or construction. My wife's father had a really nice woodshop, so I started doing woodworking with him. I inherited his tools, and I've just tinkered with them over the years. My woodworking experience has helped me understand what our customers want and the challenges they face. With this experience, my designs have moved well beyond paper. I have a new appreciation for the time involved in installation. My perspective really sets everyone up for success.

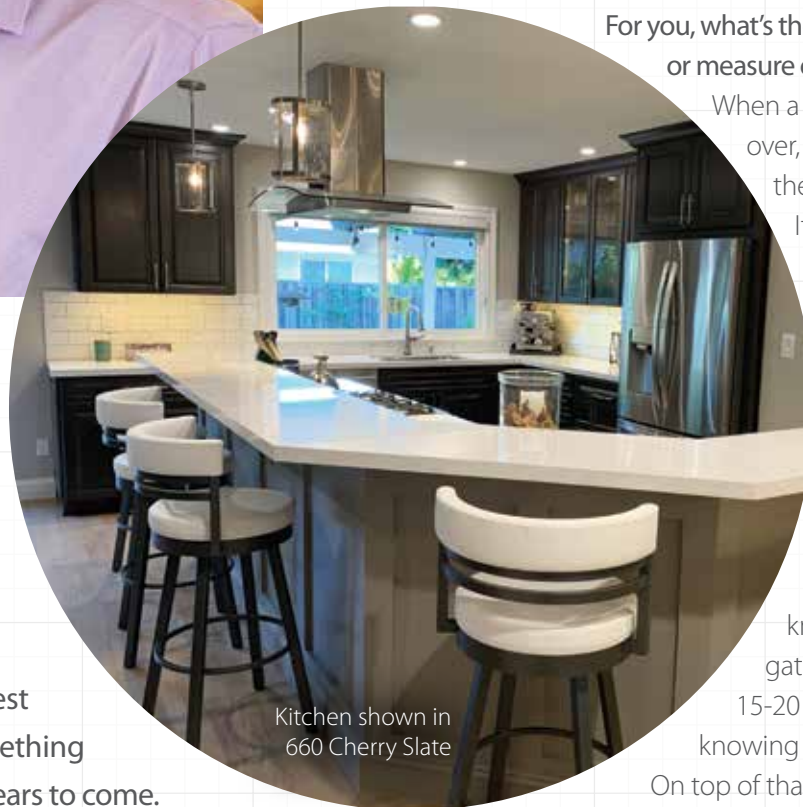

Engineering lasting style.

How has the role of the kitchen changed since you've been in the business?

It's a whole new world. Traditional kitchens are gone. The kitchen has moved beyond a place for cooking and storage. The walls have come down creating much more space and it's become the heart of the home. I have two girls, and the majority of our family time is spent in the kitchen. Whether it's doing homework, baking cookies, or entertaining friends, we all congregate in the kitchen!

For you, what's the biggest compliment or measure of success?

When a remodeling project is over, I really enjoy hearing the homeowners gush. It's incredibly rewarding to know they are satisfied. That's the end product for me. The remodeling business demands that we connect with our customers in a very real way. I get a big charge out of knowing their family will gather there for the next 15-20 years and I feel proud knowing the results are lasting. On top of that, I see our whole team is proud. It's a great feeling!

Kitchen shown in
660 Cherry Slate

What current design trends do you see standing the test of time?

A simple look is a lasting look. Merging traditional and modern styles, I often use a 410 (Shaker) door to create a transitional look. It's lasting because, as the years go by, it's flexible. If you have a simple palette, it won't look dated in five to 10 years. This allows the homeowner's personal style to evolve. It's more dynamic and they're not locked in to a short-lived look that can only be changed by remodeling the whole kitchen.

Frank's aspirational goals ensure his lasting career.

KRISTEN LISENBY

From Trading Spaces to Waypoint Living Spaces.

Kristen Lisenby has always been interested in art, but her interest in interior design was sparked by watching the TV show "Trading Spaces." She earned her bachelor's degree in interior design from the College of Fine and Applied Arts at Appalachian State University and she's been doing residential design ever since.

Tell us something about yourself that your clients might be surprised to learn.

I designed a kitchen for the TV show "Kitchen Crashers: Worst Kitchen in America." They were looking for a design to improve the "Ugliest Kitchen in America" and selected my design. The kitchen project was a huge endeavor because everything that would normally take a month to accomplish had to be done in three days! We worked really long hours, but it was an amazing experience and the results were absolutely incredible.

Kitchen shown in
610 Painted Linen

Do you think the role of the kitchen has changed since you started designing?

The kitchen has always been the heart of the home; that will never change. I believe designs should be classic and flexible, so they stand the test of time. Many people are moving away from formal dining rooms, so I see a lot more seating in the kitchen. This encourages families to gather in the kitchen. And, in today's environment, kitchens all over America have turned into home offices.

Whether it's on TV or in real life, Kristen never fails to deliver transformational designs that her clients will enjoy for years to come.

JUSTIN FARRINGTON

Linden Kitchen & Bath

Linden, MI

@lindenkitchenandbath

Justin Farrington was born to remodel.

From an early age, Justin's parents knew he was incredibly talented. As a fifth grader, they gave him his first drafting board and later his first remodeling job—the family kitchen! Here's what Justin had to say about it.

How did you get started in the design business?

I've always loved art. In fifth grade, my parents bought me a drafting board and I have been drawing homes ever since. In the early days, inspirational magazines influenced my creativity, but my parents made the biggest impact. In fact, one of my first remodel jobs was my parents' kitchen. I've been designing for Linden Kitchen & Bath for seven years and designing for 20 years.

Kitchen shown in
750 Painted Linen

What makes your firm unique?

Linden Kitchen & Bath is a third generation, family owned company. Because we're a locally owned, small-town business serving the community, personalized service is essential. Our showroom is specifically designed to educate and inspire the customer. During our initial consultation, I ask a lot of questions to generate ideas and excitement. I rely heavily on visual inspiration like Waypoint's magazine and Pinterest to help me envision their dream space.

For what reason did you select Waypoint as a vendor?

In 2000, I started working with American Woodmark Cabinetry (Waypoint's parent brand) so, I was extremely familiar with the quality of Waypoint cabinets. Seven years ago, when I joined Linden, there was a void in our product line and Waypoint wasn't one of our vendors. I knew our clients would appreciate the high-quality construction, ease of design and great pricing. I was right!

How has the kitchen changed since you started your design career?

I've been designing since 2000, so the role of a kitchen has definitely changed. With the open concept design becoming popular early in my career, the kitchen has become the focal point of the home. This meant designs really had to maximize the space. I use a lot of Deep Furniture Drawers and internal cabinet organizers for storage. Because everyone gathers in the kitchen, it makes a real statement about the homeowners' style.

These days, it's no wonder Justin's phone rings off the hook. This small-town designer has 20 years of experience under his belt and big ideas about designing dream spaces.

Collaboration is key for this dynamic design duo.

Self-taught, curious and wildly enthusiastic, Ann Stanfill does her best work under pressure. She can't visit a home without rearranging it in her head to improve the functionality. But, an interior designer, she's not. Enter partner, Tiffany McLean.

A classically trained interior designer and color expert, Tiffany McLean, of Broxen Homes, complements Ann perfectly. Together they share a passion for Waypoint cabinets and highly functional designs—mission accomplished.

When designing a new space, how do you begin the process to help your clients articulate their vision?

Ann: We always start with an onsite visit. I ask a lot of tough questions about a customer's likes and dislikes because I am all about the functionality of the space. I want to understand exactly how they plan to use their space, so it's utilized perfectly.

Kitchen shown in
410 Painted Linen

Tiffany: Ann asks really good, detailed questions. For example, are they big bakers? How many kids do they have? What role do the kids play in the kitchen with cooking, chores, etc.? Gathering detailed information upfront plays a vital role in the final design.

Other than the kitchen, how do you use Waypoint cabinets to improve other living spaces?

Tiffany: I love using cabinets all over the home! I use them to build vanities, entertainment centers, mudrooms and exposed closets.

Kitchens are our forte, but we can help design with any room! Other than the kitchen, mudrooms are my favorite place to use cabinets because I get to explore so many different storage options. I design a ton of lockers, bench seats with drawers, banquettes—there's so much functional storage to be utilized in a mudroom!

Do you think the role of the kitchen has changed since you started designing?

Ann: Yes, the kitchen has become so much more than a kitchen. Because we are tearing down the walls between rooms, the kitchen takes on a great room effect. The larger, open space plays so many different roles and the dining table has become the meeting place.

Tiffany: I agree, in my kitchen, I stand in the same place to prep my food and entertain. Today's kitchen has become the new living room. Entertaining has become a big part of my kitchen designs. Large islands provide the perfect place for dining and gathering and provide tons of storage.

For these two Californians, experience backed with enthusiasm makes them a powerful team!

WHAT'S YOUR COLOR STORY?

Color isn't just a decorative accessory. It's an emotion. Research has proven that color can change your heart rate, blood pressure and mood. Bright and exciting. Warm and comforting. Dark and dramatic. Light and carefree. All can have a different effect on you. Color is also one of the most powerful triggers of sense memory.

A faded yellow can take you back to when you were a child in your grandmother's kitchen, sipping cocoa in the warmth of the afternoon sun, feeling safe and secure. A blue-grey might remind you of a storm and make you feel uneasy. Color speaks to us all in a myriad of abstract, eclectic and subconscious ways. But color's language means different things to different people.

The following pages are a collection of brief stories that can help you find your own color story and lead you to the Waypoint® door style and new living space that are exactly what you had in mind.

BEAUTIFUL MEMORIES

We spent our honeymoon on Santorini, surrounded by whitewashed buildings with blue roofs and shutters. It was the most beautiful place I had ever seen—the clean, crisp white lines with the accents of azure. When it was time to head home, we promised ourselves that someday we would return. Twenty years and two kids later, we've yet to make it back. But as we sit in our kitchen, sipping an espresso, surrounded by my white cabinets with touches of blue-grey, that Greek island doesn't feel very far away.

GET AWAY FROM IT ALL

I work out of my home, which means I really never leave work. Yoga is my escape from the world. No kids, no work, a peaceful place to just be, where the bright sun floods in from the skylights above, adding a hazy calm of whiteness to the atmosphere. It's me time—I close my eyes, relax and recharge. The stress of the world feels a million miles away, as I focus on nothing but my breathing. It was this feeling that I wanted to capture when remodeling my home office—a soft, linen-white space with a touch of grey to accent the clean lines. Now, I don't even have to leave the house to get away from it all.

I dreaded the day my daughter asked me to help her bake cookies. My exploits in the kitchen always ended in disaster. But standing at the counter with my little girl, both of us covered in flour, laughing hysterically, kneading our fingers into that warm, light cream-colored dough, I finally saw the appeal of baking. It wasn't in the end result; it was in the memories you make along the way. And whenever I see that silky vanilla color, I always hear the sounds of my daughter's laughter.

MAGIC MORNINGS IN PARIS

I spent my junior year of college in Paris. Waking up to a hazy view of cream-colored stone and the city sprawling around me, I felt like I was right where I was meant to be. That year abroad taught me so much more than what filled my notebooks in class. It awakened my sense of adventure, taught me independence, and inspired my passion for art and design. Almost 10 years later, I start my mornings surrounded by the same dreamy color and a print of the Eiffel Tower to bring me back to the time when I found my true self.

INSPIRED BY THE SEA

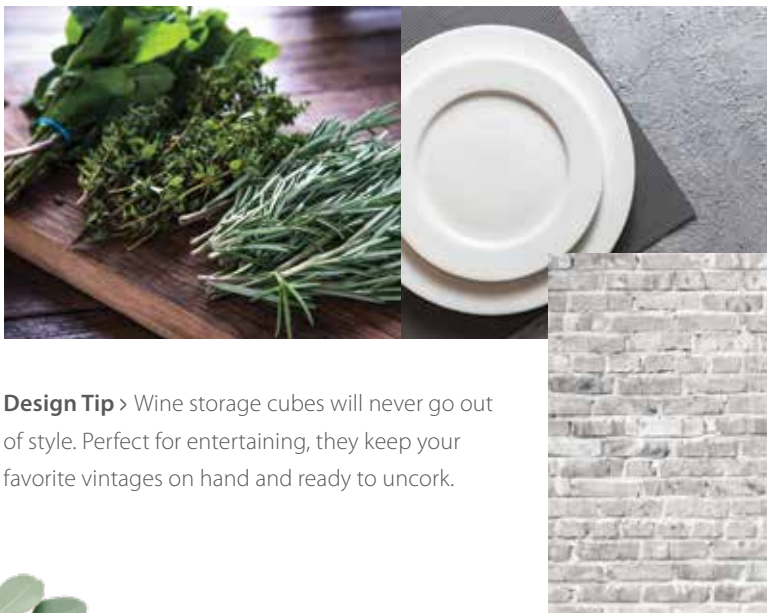

Growing up by the ocean was something I took for granted. The rhythmic sound of the waves, the grey speckled sand under my bare feet and the mists that rolled over the beach in the morning were details I didn't take in when I was young. Leaving my mom to her coffee, my dad and I would head to the beach every morning of the summer. Building sandcastles was our favorite pastime. We'd spend hours constructing solid, grey fortresses that I imagined would be inhabited by the little crabs that scuttled from one tide pool to the next. Though work and family have brought me far from the coast now, when I'm pouring my own coffee each morning, my kitchen reminds of that pale grey sand and the childhood I'm so grateful for now.

The biggest decision I ever made was to move to America. I was excited and scared to leave my European culture behind, and I wasn't sure I was going to be able to make it. Fast-forward 10 years to a loving family, a successful business and a very happy life. I still think of my hometown, though, so when I designed my own kitchen, I brought it to me. The unique taupe glaze created a cozy atmosphere and emphasized the natural design of the wood, surrounding me in subtle sophistication. WE FELL IN LOVE WITH GREY

I fell in love with Tommy when I was 5 years old. He was 7, and (I thought) so grown-up. He was always nice to me, always included me and had an uncanny ability to make me laugh. We had our first kiss when I was 12. It was in the barn on his parents' property, a place we would always go to play. That warm, medium-grey-colored barn always seemed to me to hold secrets and magic, and I was right. With that magical first kiss, I knew I was going to marry Tommy. Our home today reflects the things we grew up with—light, nature and the beautiful warm stone color of that barn. Every morning I walk into the kitchen and am reminded again how lucky I am to be married to the love my life, who after all these years still makes me laugh.

A BRIDGE TO LOVE

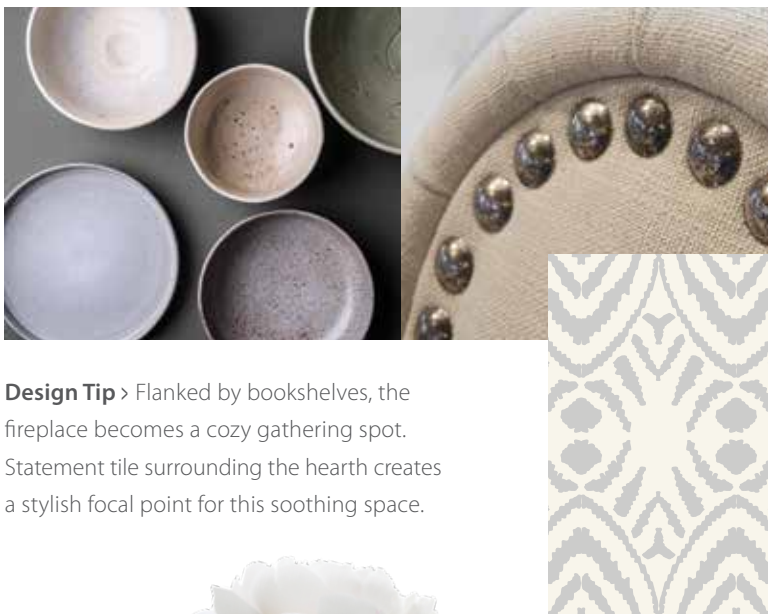

We met walking our dogs under the gorgeous grey Brooklyn Bridge. The bench beneath that charcoal masterpiece was her favorite spot, too. We went from sitting at the far ends of the bench to sharing a sandwich and then, one day, a kiss. We endured workers' comments, in Brooklyn brogue from above, yelling things like, "Marry her already!" and "Get a room!" We actually ended up getting a brownstone in the Heights, with a perfect view of that blue-grey bridge we both love. And when it came to redoing the living room, it was no surprise that the cabinets had to be Waypoint's Painted Boulder grey.

LIFE IS A BEACH—A GOLDEN MAPLE-COLORED SANDY ONE

Every year we take a weeklong vacation to the beach. All of my brothers and sisters bring their families, and mom and dad get to have the whole family together again. It's not a fancy resort that we go to, it's rather rustic and dated, but it's like family—it just feels right and there is no place we'd rather be. Of course the kids are all up at the crack of dawn, and as the rye-colored sun rises in the sky, we pack the caravan and start our migration to the beach. The week flies by, and we always look forward to next year when we will do it all again. As I prepare for my day before the kids wake up, I look at my bathroom and the rustic maple and rye cabinets, and they remind me of those weeks at the beach and get me set for another beautiful day!

SETTING SAIL

When I was a kid, my dream was to sail around the world. The feel of that smooth wooden deck under my bare feet, the breeze skimming across the open expanse of the ocean—it was freedom. The boat was my home away from home and I loved the way the honey brown wood, worn by salt and wind, contrasted with the steely blue of the waves. I have to admit that I never made that voyage all the way around the globe. My job doesn't leave much time for sailing anymore, but it has given me the opportunity to live where I can look out my window and see the marina where my boat, Freedom II, is docked. And when I reach for cabinets that are in that same light brown color, I can almost taste the salty, ocean air.

MR. FUZZ PAWS

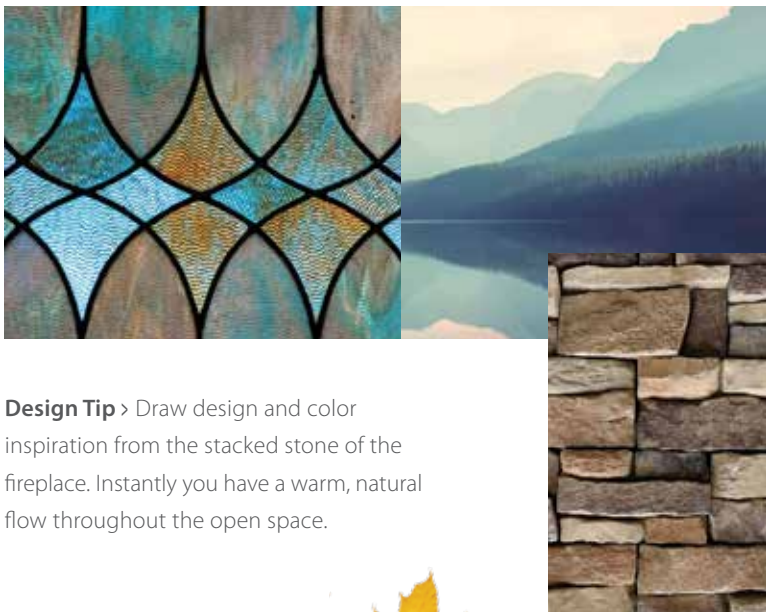

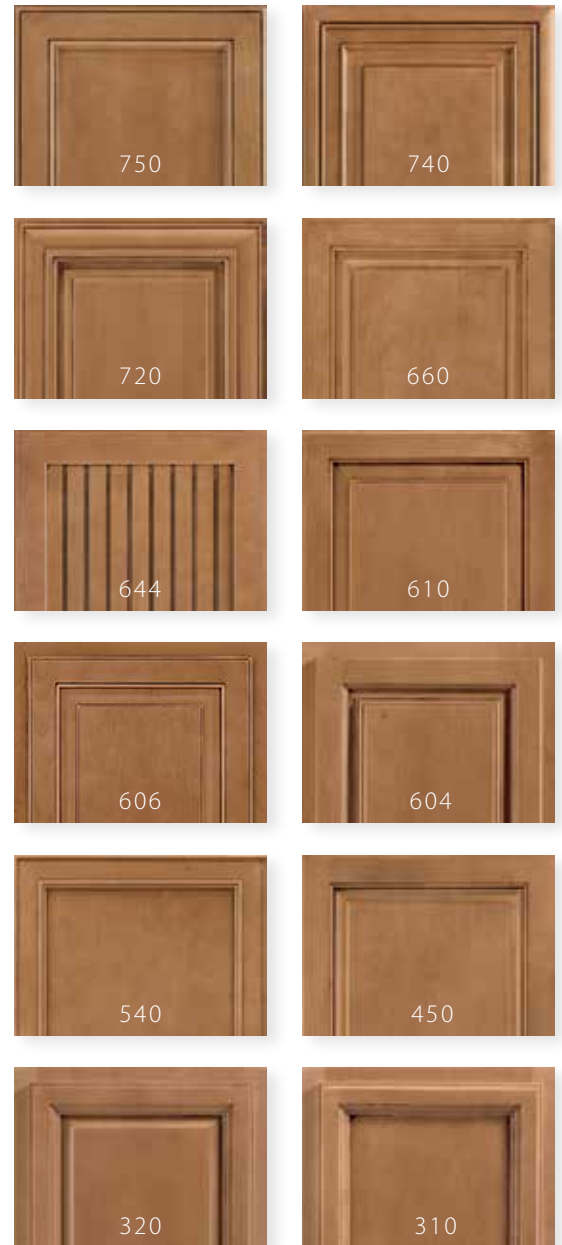

It was hard for my little girl to make friends when the nearest house was 10 miles away. Before she started school, Patty's best friend was her bear, Mr. Fuzz Paws. She took him everywhere. They would spend all day on adventures, and his rich, comforting brown fur would inevitably get dirty along the way, so I would have to wash him once a week. Patty would sit making faces at him as he tumbled around in the washing machine. Sometimes, from the window, I could see the two of them deep in conversation. I'm not quite sure what a 3-year-old has to be so serious about, but I'm glad she always had someone to talk to. The day she left for college, I walked into her room and saw Mr. Fuzz Paws sitting on her bed. "Just you and me now, huh?" I said to him, and I swear that bear smiled back at me.

A NIGHT AT THE MOVIES

There was something magical about movie nights, once the squabble over who got to pick from our ever-growing collection of VHS tapes was decided. My dad would bring the popcorn in and we'd all settle in on our plush, brown couch to watch 'happily ever after' play out on the screen. That couch might have had more than its fair share of popcorn kernels lost between the cushions, but it was the backdrop for hours of quality time with my family. Now, we've grown up and scattered across the country to pursue careers and start our own families. When it came to designing the entertainment center in my living room, it was easy to choose the same cozy, timeless brown as the couch I grew up with. Every time I see it, I'm comforted by the warm memories of family time and how much I look forward to Friday nights: the nights I sit down with my own kids to watch a new adventure unfold.

BREAKFAST IN BED

Every Mother's Day, we made breakfast in bed for my Mom. The tradition started when we were too little to help my dad as he scrambled eggs, buttered toast and poured orange juice. My brother and I would still proudly carry it to her on a beautiful tray made of the prettiest auburn colored wood. The hardest part was not letting the tray tilt and spill. Now, my husband and I host my parents for brunch as often as we can, and I'm careful not to spill a drop of wine as I carry glasses from the beautiful auburn glazed wine bar. Making mimosas on weekend mornings always reminds me of family and the importance of keeping tradition alive.

THE QUIETEST PLACE ON EARTH

I can remember the time I really experienced absolute silence. I had kayaked out to the middle of the lake as the sun was just starting to come up, and I was bathed in the cocoa warmth of a new day. The water was so still, the air so clean and there wasn't a sound. Not a bird or a ripple—it was complete silence. I never felt so small and so large at the same time. As that dark brown sky dissolved into a golden orange, I remember wondering if I would ever experience this amazing peace and quiet again. Well, three kids, a dog and a cat later, I can truthfully say the answer is no. But there are days when I wake up early and sit in my kitchen looking at those rich, truffle-colored cabinets as the sun is just starting to rise through the window and casts the faintest amber light across the room. That silence is close—not the same, but perfect in its own unique way.

MOUNTAIN MAGIC

After our beloved dog of 12 years passed away, it took months before I was ready to think about adopting another. Seeing Rudy hunched at the back of his kennel at the shelter changed everything. From the minute we brought him home, he brought joy back into my life. To quell his relentless energy, we started hiking the nearby trails. I loved to catch sight of his deep brown coat with its rich grey sheen as he weaved among fallen tree branches and scrambled up the steely grey rocks. I followed, at first stopping often to catch my breath but eventually striding confidently behind him. Now, whenever I reach for a mug on a chilly day, my kitchen reminds me of his glossy coat as he leads the way. And as to who rescued who? That's a question I'm not even sure I know the answer to.

I've always loved the color black. Its rich dark drama feels epic to me. I prefer nighttime to daytime. I prefer my vintage black Asian teapot to the latest porcelain colors. I prefer black cats with coats that set off their green eyes. I can never go wrong wearing my little black dress. Black is so versatile, works with any style, any setting, so it's no surprise that I chose Espresso doors for my kitchen. Because no matter how much my interests and style may change, black is versatile and will always keep my kitchen feeling luxurious and stylish. MY WARM, FASHIONABLE LIFE

I remember the first time I knew I wanted to be a fashion designer. I was walking the street with my mom and saw a gorgeous, rich orange and brown pleated skirt in a storefront window. My mom explained to me how someone had come up with the idea for that and made it, and I couldn't help thinking how amazing it was that someone got to do that for a living. Over the years, I've seen, designed and worn hundreds of different colors and styles. But that gorgeous, spiced golden-brown color with just the slightest hint of orange will always be my favorite. It reminds me of how lucky I am, every day, to do what I love.

YOUR CHARIOT AWAITS YOU

My husband, Jonathan, had a conference in Los Angeles, and we decided to make a mini-vacation out of the trip. We were going to rent a car and head up the Pacific Coast Highway for the day. When we got to the rental car company, we noticed that they offered exotic cars for rent. I talked Jonathan into splurging for the day and we rented this amazing, dark-cinnamon convertible. It was the most wonderful day and the best car trip I've ever taken. I remember thinking that I felt like Cinderella with her prince and her pumpkin had been turned into this wonderful car. Now, when I am in my kitchen and preparing the evening meal, I look at my cinnamon-colored cherry cabinets and I'm transported back to that drive, the Pacific Ocean and that girl named Cinderella.

A MERLOT THAT PAIRS PERFECTLY WITH MERLOT

I have a sign hanging in my kitchen that says, "Wine adds a smile to friendship and a spark to love." When we have friends over, it seems like everyone always gathers in the kitchen, where the rich, red cherry cabinets create the perfect atmosphere to share stories, friendship and, of course, a bottle of wine. I love the look and feel of claret-hued cherry so much that I added a deep-merlot colored credenza to our entryway. Everyone comments on what a lasting first impression our entrance area creates. Recently, a good friend brought me another sign to hang in my home. It reads, "Most days I juggle everything quite well, on other days there's always merlot." I don't think she was talking about my credenza.

JAVA EXUDES STYLE

I have a motto. It's "Live life fashionably." My life is a nonstop series of design choices, and as an interior designer, I'm a walking, talking billboard of my style. I love contrasts, like taking a rich cherry brown, which I find much more interesting than black, and matching it with brighter colors that allow the java to make a bold statement. I love clean lines, textures and combining things that don't seem to go together. As I work to create a space with unique style that captures my client's distinct personality, I often find myself framing that portrait in rich, dark chocolate.

I was always a dog person until I met my future husband, Frank, who owned a cat named Grits. It was almost like the more I didn't want to like Grits, the more she forced her way into my heart. AVOID THESE TOP 5 REMODELING MISTAKES

Most kitchen or bathroom remodels certainly add to your quality of life. They will also add to the value of your home when it comes time to sell. Getting a high return on your financial investment is important, and realizing your unique style in a remodel will surely pay dividends for a more comfortable and rewarding lifestyle.

LIVING SPACE SHOWN IN 650 PAINTED LINEN

1 NOT HAVING A BUDGET.

Have you ever gone to the market and ended up at the checkout and come up short? Frustrating, right? Doing a remodel requires even more planning. The numbers are bigger, and setting a budget from the outset makes all the difference. Your Waypoint® designer can help you get the style you desire and the most value for your dollar, avoiding the drama of coming up short.

2 NOT KNOWING WHAT YOU ARE LOOKING FOR.

Translating your dreams into reality can be tough. But with a little bit of homework and a collection of things that inspire you, your Waypoint® dealer/designer can achieve a style that's all you. Bring them your remodel magazine clippings, snapshots of favorite homes, examples of colors, textures and fabrics that you love. This is how the perfect remodel starts.

3 NOT HIRING A PRO.

If you want a great remodel without all the drama, you must work with a professional like a Waypoint® dealer/designer. They're experts at the most efficient approach to creating your new kitchen, bath or other living space. Inexperience in the management of design, demolition and installation can quickly turn a little mistake into a seriously blown budget. Hire a pro and get the style you want—the first time and on budget.

4 NOT CHOOSING YOUR APPLIANCES FIRST.

Don't end up with beautiful cabinetry that won't accommodate your preferred appliances. It makes sense to choose those appliances first and design your cabinetry accordingly. Yes, there are standard sizes, but a Waypoint® dealer/designer knows that homeowners' needs are anything but standard. Avoid the aggravation, delays and expense that come with appliances that will not fit the space.

5 NOT ALLOWING ENOUGH TIME FOR EXCELLENCE.

Many designers, installers and contractors are notoriously optimistic about completion dates. Know that your remodel will probably take longer than anyone says it will. Do yourself a huge favor and do not schedule completion up against a holiday or wedding reception. This often ends in tears. Be realistic. Be patient. Allow enough time for remodel excellence. It'll be fabulous forever.

WINNING DESIGNER › KITCHEN FARIS SPINOSI

CRAMPED KITCHEN BE GONE!

Faris Spinosi, a designer from TVL Creative, won the fall 2019 “Showcase Your Space” remodel contest for her innovative design that transformed a dysfunctional first floor into a seamless open space for a growing family of four.

Converting a cramped space into an active open floor plan was this family’s top priority, which meant walls had to come down. By removing the wall that divided the kitchen and dining room, Faris opened the whole floor plan. She added a central pantry to hide the unsightly ductwork and provide much-needed storage. Serving double duty, the pantry anchors the kitchen island, while creating a visual barrier between the kitchen and homework area.

Once she resolved the space and flow challenges, Faris turned to Waypoint® cabinets for a timeless look. Her clients fell in love with floor-to-ceiling 650 Painted Linen cabinetry. An eye-catching backsplash provides an interesting backdrop for the crisp cabinets. Lit by a trio of hanging pendants, the waterfall island offers ample counter space, a sink and room for three to dine. Waypoint’s customization options allowed Faris to create a highly functional kitchen and homework nook for the kids.

“Waypoint offered a high-quality, cost-effective cabinet option for this client,” Faris proudly crowed. And, thanks to the customer service team at Waypoint, the design process was seamless and the installation easy. There is no doubt this is a kitchen that will draw a crowd for years to come!

READY FOR RELAXATION!

Elena and April's winning bath remodel almost didn't happen! When their clients moved into their new home, the list of remodel projects was lengthy. Low on the list of priorities, the master bath remodel was originally scheduled for "down the road." Their plans changed—the homeowners fell in love with the proposed design and decided to move forward immediately!

The challenge this design team faced was not the spacious bathroom, but a serious lack of storage and a cramped shower. Additionally, drowned in builder-grade tile, the sunken tub made the ceiling appear to be low and required a step up to the master bath. Enter, the award-winning Case Design and Remodeling team.

Stylish cabinets, under budget—the decision to use Waypoint® cabinets was easy. Their clients love the door style and Stone is a natural fit for the grey and white palette. Another added bonus? Duraform is moisture-resistant—perfect for this steamy space. The new design includes an L-shaped vanity complete with two sinks and a makeup station. With plenty of drawers and cabinets, it's configured for serious storage space. Crystal lighting fixtures top the mirror-lined walls, expanding the space. Complete with a soaking tub and spacious shower, this spa bath wants for nothing.

Ready for relaxation, this functional design is definitely a winner! And, thanks to Waypoint, the award-winning results were delivered with a very short lead time.

CHEERS TO A BOURBON INSPIRED BASEMENT!

Gary Hubbard, designer at Kitchen Creations, Inc., created an award-winning "other" design that was inspired by the owner's appreciation for an amber American spirit—bourbon. Gary successfully transformed an empty basement into an entertaining bar that embodies all the smooth, complex qualities of its inspiration.

A Kentucky couple who loves to entertain at home, Gary's clients decided to turn their unfinished basement into a beautiful bar. To begin the process, he invited them to visit his showroom. Once he understood the couple's wants and needs—he knew Waypoint cabinets would be the perfect fit. From past experience, he also knew Waypoint provides an excellent quality product with precise finishes and a variety of decorative options.

For the wife—it was love at first sight. She was instantly drawn to the smooth finish of Painted Silk—these creamy cabinets were exactly what the couple craved. Gary injected solid character into the airy backdrop using a brick wall and "wood-look" luxury vinyl tile. Displayed on iron-supported shelving, the husband's Bourbon bottle collection was elevated to art. The design paired traditional cabinetry with a well-worn bourbon barrel sink. The contrast of the combination reflects the couple's unique style.

Gary admits much of his remodel success stems from his relationship with Waypoint. He says, "Any situation that has come up, and there have been some odd ones, Waypoint has—for lack of better words—'had our backs.' It sounds like there is more than one winner here. Cheers to winning watering holes!

There were many entries, and as always, selecting the top three was nearly impossible. Visit the Waypoint Living Spaces® website, waypointlivingspaces.com/inspiration/showcase, to see all the entries, as well as the latest trends in home design.

5 LAUNDRY TRICKS EVERYONE SHOULD KNOW

- 1 Use dish soap, or chalk, to get out grease stains—just saturate the stain or use your fingers to rub on before washing as usual. Do not let the garment dry until the stain is completely gone.
- 2 To dry clothing ASAP, put it in the dryer on the highest setting with a dry bath towel.
- 3 Remove sweat stains and odors from white T-shirts by rubbing with white vinegar before washing.
- 4 To remove wrinkles quickly, throw the piece of clothing in the dryer with a towel and a few ice cubes. Ice cubes create steam that will get rid of the wrinkles, and the towel will fluff the clothing item and keep it from sticking to the side of the dryer.
- 5 Never lose your socks again. Pin a mesh bag to your laundry hamper. As soon as you take off your socks, place them in the bag. Keep the socks in the bag when you wash and dry them.

HIS & HER CLOSET

Don't forget about shoe storage when planning your dream closet!

THIS HIS & HER CLOSET IS PROPERLY DRESSED

Master his and her closets have become an essential feature of the master suite. They've also been proven to cultivate happier, more dashing couples. A proper his and her closet has plenty of well-planned space for couples to comfortably dress and to hang shorter and longer garments. Drawers and racks should be customized to his and her needs. The closet should include many organizational features, like cabinetry outfitted for specific accessories and even islands to lay out wardrobe details in advance for a quick escape on busy days.

SHINE 'EM UP RIGHT

Shoes are an investment that will last for many years with proper care. Start by brushing off the dust and dirt. Then, with a rag wrapped tightly around your first two fingers, apply the polish in small, tight swirls. By the time you're through applying wax or polish to the second shoe, the first will be dry and ready to brush. Spray a little water on a second, light application of polish—a spit shine—then buff with a soft cotton cloth.

JEWELRY HARDWARE

What a great idea! The same items used to open cabinet doors and drawers can also provide the answer to keeping your necklaces organized and tangle-free. Take the idea one step further, using pulls for scarves and ties. Using knobs and pulls won't replace a well-designed tie rack or jewelry box, but they are perfect for staging key elements for getting ready quickly when you've got a busy day ahead. With a little creativity, the cure for the common closet is at your fingertips.

Use subtle décor to enhance your style.

TRANSFORM YOUR Master Suite INTO A RELAXING OASIS

LIVING SPACE SHOWN IN 720 PAINTED LINEN

SOMETIMES THE MOST PRODUCTIVE THING YOU CAN DO IS RELAX

Your bedroom and bathroom suite is the one place in your house that is all yours, so why not make it the most relaxing space? Start with plenty of storage for all your clothes, shoes, accessories and bathroom items. Glass cabinets create a polished look, while serving as storage space for all your off-season clothes or extra bedding. With all the extra space, you may just be able to find room for that comfy overstuffed armchair you've been eyeing! Create a seamless look with matching panels and finishes throughout your bedroom, closet and bathroom. Soft, neutral colors will help create an open, breathable atmosphere. The perfect place to relax with a good book, or take a long bath, while you let the stress of the day leave you. And best of all, a space where you can get that deep night's sleep you deserve, so you're ready to face the day. After all, sometimes the most productive thing you can do is relax!

LIVING ROOM TO RECHARGE IN

TIME IS NOT MEASURED BY CLOCKS, BUT BY MOMENTS

Finding relaxed quality time with friends and family can be a challenge in a world that runs at the pace of the high-speed internet. That’s why many homeowners today insist on a living room that is warm and casual. This relaxed living space features the 610 door style with mullions designed into a wall-to-wall mantle that makes a statement—a statement that says, “Stay awhile, curl up on a cushy pillow and take a deep breath.”

Treasured books peeking into the space from beautiful glass cabinets reinforce a feeling of warmth and urge everyone to relax. The fireplace serves as a cozy focal point, and its expansive mantel contains further encouragement to leave the busy world behind. This thoughtful wall of cabinetry stores board games, tea sets, knitting baskets, jigsaw puzzles and, of course, a miniature bar.

THREE TIPS TO KEEP YOUR HOUSEPLANTS ALIVE AND THRIVING

Plants can breathe new life into a home, and you can change the look of a room by changing out your plants for the season. Here are a few tips on how to keep your houseplants alive year-round:

The Right Amount of Water

Overwatering is one of the most common reasons a plant doesn't thrive. To find out if your plant needs water, stick your finger about an inch into the soil, close to the edge of the pot. If it's dry, it's time to water!

Proper Drainage

Make sure your pots have drainage holes, to help prevent root rot. Another way to help is to put a layer of pebbles at the bottom of the pot, about ½-inch to 1-inch thick, to keep water away from the roots.

The Right Lighting

Be sure to read the label of the plant when you purchase it to find out the best lighting (and watering) for it. It will usually be either full sun, partial sun or shade.

WARM COLORS AND SOFT, COMFORTABLE TEXTURES WILL HELP MAKE THIS THE ROOM YOUR WHOLE FAMILY WANTS TO BE IN. KEEP IT COZY!

TIPS & TRICKS

Using a variety of storage containers will keep your pantry looking fun and stylish. Recycle the bags from the grocery store and use airtight jars for flour, pasta, sugar and other cooking and baking essentials. Wire or wicker baskets are great for snacks like granola bars or canned goods and bottles. It will keep everything organized and looking great too!

UPGRADE YOUR PANTRY AND GET ORGANIZED WITH WAYPOINT LIVING SPACES®

With your busy life, you really don't have time to go searching through your pantry for that box of cereal or a particular spice. Just a few organizational solutions will make your pantry efficient and functional.

A pantry is the perfect place for a minimalist style. Open shelving makes items easy to find, and slab doors will help provide a clean and tidy look, while concealing any clutter. Floor to ceiling cabinetry ensures that there will be plenty of space for all your goods. Keep your daily items easy to reach on the lower shelves, and reserve your top cabinets for hiding the contraband candy and cookies.

No matter the style of your kitchen, your pantry should be an easy extension. Waypoint® has products to ensure a seamless, streamlined look for your living space that is functional and stylish. A clean, open pantry space with clearly organized and labeled items will keep you efficient and in control, even on your most hectic days.

BEAUTY IS MORE THAN SKIN DEEP

Real beauty in cabinetry is not only about the way it looks, but also about the way it lasts. Your cabinetry should look and function for many years to come as well as it does the day it's installed. Waypoint® cabinetry is built to last, and steps are taken throughout the manufacturing process to ensure that it does.

CABINETS THAT'S BUILT TO LAST

Every Waypoint® cabinet is built with American pride and craftsmanship, using the finest materials available.

Cabinet joints are pressure-fitted, glued and stapled. Kiln-dried face frames made with 3/4-inch by 1-5/8-inch solid hardwood will not warp. Half-inch furniture board corner blocks contribute to the integrity of the cabinets.

Waypoint® standard construction includes 1/2-inch-thick plywood sides with Waypoint® resilient finishing system exteriors. Tops, bottoms and floors are 1/2-inch-thick furniture board, finished with our natural wood grain resilient finishing system.

All construction meets or exceeds the rigorous standards set by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) and by the Kitchen Cabinet Manufacturers Association (KCMA). We have the KCMA seal to confirm it and a Limited Lifetime Warranty to guarantee it.

Count on Waypoint's 5/8-inch solid dovetail drawer construction that exceeds all load standards, and choose optional furniture ends to provide a finished look to the visible sides of cabinets.

HIGH-QUALITY HINGES AND GLIDES

Our 21-inch drawers now come equipped with full-extension glides with CushionClose®. The undermount technology with precision roller carriage leaves drawer sides and dovetails exposed, while allowing access to everything within the drawer, all the way to the back.

CushionClose®, for drawers, doors and selected organization products, uses damper technology to reduce slamming and ensure gentle, quiet closing.

Our six-way adjustable hinges have CushionClose® integrated right into the hinge and are factory installed. They open to 105° and have an on/off switch so that the pressure of the lighter doors can easily be adjusted.

Waypoint® takes pride in building cabinetry that's beautiful and durable to meet the rigorous needs of the American family and their way of life. So, when you choose cabinetry, it's important to choose both strength and beauty.

CROWN YOUR LIVING SPACE WITH A STYLE THAT'S ALL YOU

You've chosen your cabinets, decided on your style and picked your paint colors. But you're not done yet. It's time to decide on your moldings. Attention to moldings is what will transform a space from just a room to a stylish living space. Interior moldings on your cabinets provide more than an architectural accent; they define the attitude of your space and complete your style. It might seem like a small detail, but as they say, the difference is in the details.

One of the easiest ways to upgrade or refresh a room during a remodel is to pay attention to your moldings, adding width, depth and height to the trim. The increased framing will enhance your living space and make more of an impact than you realize, including increasing the value of your home!

Waypoint® has a variety of moldings to fit any style, from contemporary minimalist style to ornate traditional, vintage French style and everything in between. Work with your Waypoint® designer to find exactly what you had in mind.

► Ask your designer about using molding buildups to create a look that's all your own.

HOME SWEET Forever HOME

FAMILY IS FOREVER, AND SO IS THE LATEST TREND IN HOMES

The forever home comes out of a longing for something real and permanent, vying with the starter home and even the smart home for most desired. This is the home you love so much that you want to live there forever. You want to raise your children there and see them off to college. And this is where you will eventually want to welcome your grandchildren for visits. This is where the whole family will gather for Thanksgiving. The forever home nourishes the family through all stages of life—in style, functionality and adaptability.

STYLE THAT WITHSTANDS THE TEST OF TIME

Just because you were smart enough to realize that your taste and style will change over time and that you'll want to change your living space doesn't mean you have to be Mr. Vanilla. You'll be here long enough to create many looks as your design sensibilities grow—not to mention the size of your family.

Choose the cabinet that most reflects your style in a finish that won't flinch from the demands of your evolving life. These are the bones upon which you'll create many styles and looks over time. Life in your forever home will always be changing in new and wonderful ways. How else could it keep up with the needs of a growing family and your evolving style?

STORAGE SOLUTIONS THAT EMBRACE FOREVER

When you have a forever home, you know that the accumulation of stuff will escalate through the years. This is a truth of life. The good news is that with a little planning and the help of a good designer, you will never need to rent a storage unit. That's money better spent on cabinetry. Keep yourself, your family and your things under one roof so you'll have them when you want them.

- › Under-cabinet systems hold a surprising amount. Pull open a drawer only to find a smaller drawer tucked into it. Keep the bottle opener on top.
- › Built-ins aren't just for shelves. Cabinets work in all rooms, including the mudroom, laundry room and large closets.
- › Pantry door swing-out kits are like having an extra pantry.
- › Cabinets in the garage will actually save space. You can have your workshop and, quite possibly, a car in the garage.
- › Get appliances off the counter with wall top-hinge cabinets for a sleek, clean look.
- › A home office doesn't have to be an extravagance. Adding a charging drawer by your desk and a wood tiered cutlery divider for pens and notepads will make working from a walk away even easier.
- › Revitalize any room with a wine storage unit that can hold towels or toiletries just as easily as bottles of your favorite merlot.

HOME SWEET FOREVER HOME

A forever home is constantly evolving because your life is always changing. It never has to go out of style because your designer can keep you in the loop as new cabinetry styles, finishes and looks become available. A forever home doesn't stand still long enough to go stale because, with some thoughtful planning, it will always keep up with you and your forever family.

Include these three storage essentials below to maximize efficiency in your kitchen:

STYLE FOR ALL OF LIFE'S STAGES

NEWLYWEDS

Couples starting out find beautiful cabinetry to accommodate entertaining needs. Celebrating your successes with friends and family is an important part of making your new home truly yours.

BABY ARRIVES

Cabinets replace shelves in anticipation of toys and bug collections to come. You're ready for anything life can throw at you now as you navigate the challenges that come with a growing family.

BABY GOES TO COLLEGE

A child leaves for college—you gain a home office. Saying goodbye is never easy, but focusing on a new project helps make the transition smoother.

EMPTY NEST

Empty nesters look forward to remodeling rooms to create studios. The pace of life is slower and more relaxed, with time to explore new hobbies and meet long-term goals.

PARENTS MOVE IN

They find full extension drawers, glide-out under-sink trash and recycling, and blind-corner lazy Susans so much easier to use. Grab bars in the bathroom keep them safe. Cherish the time you get to spend with them now.

GRANDCHILDREN VISIT

Time to turn that home office into a playroom. Your grandchildren bring such boundless energy and joy to your home every time they arrive. Join in their games and enjoy watching them grow.

THE JOY OF GETTING ORGANIZED

Your kitchen is the heart of your home, a place to bring family and friends together to create and share meals, discuss the day and plan the future. Whether you view your kitchen as a space to entertain or to decompress by creating your own culinary masterpieces, having it customized to make your life easier is a priority your Waypoint® designer can help with.

In fashion, as in everything, it's all in the details. It's the details that complete your look. Think jewelry. It is an intimately personal statement. It's the measure of your taste. It can mean the difference between dressing well and looking absolutely smashing.

Like jewelry, hardware is the personal touch that makes a living space truly yours, reflecting your unique personality and way of life.

Waypoint® has a spectrum of hardware styles. Traditional designs with the look of aged metal. Old World pieces expressed as hammered iron and pewter with copper highlights. Brushed elements that relate perfectly to today's stainless steel finishes. And artisan pieces that can enhance any cabinetry.

Selecting hardware is often seen as a remodeler's most difficult choice. Waypoint's collection promises to complement your style with style, no matter what it is.

HOW TO PREPARE FOR A REMODEL

YOUR REMODEL IS AN INVESTMENT

One of the first and most important things you can do before you begin your remodel is to be sure of what you want to accomplish and what you're willing to spend to achieve your goal.

Beyond improving your quality of life, remodeling increases the value of your home. In the remodeling business, it's known as the price/value relationship. For example, according to the Remodeling 2020 Cost vs. Value Report,* homeowners in the market for reselling their homes recoup, on average, 58.6% of every dollar they spend on a midrange major kitchen remodel. That's an excellent return on your investment. Master baths are another great investment when it comes to cost vs. value, with a midrange bathroom remodel, on average, producing a 64.0% return on investment in 2020.

But before you even start calculating your return, you need to take a realistic look at your budget. Discuss what you're willing to spend with your designer before you start to plan. A Waypoint® authorized designer can work with you to make the most of your budget and create a living space you'll be proud of.

Ironically, not hiring a designer in an effort to save money often ends up costing homeowners more. An expert will help make sure all is done right the first time and avoid costly mistakes.

NOTHING GREAT COMES EASY

Remodeling is disruptive under the best of circumstances, so to ease the process, it really helps to be ready. That's why the first step shouldn't be about tarps or runners, but about communication.

* © 2020 Hanley Wood, LLC. Complete data from the Remodeling 2020 Cost vs. Value Report can be downloaded free at costvsvalue.com.

Exactly what you had in mind®

GET THE FAMILY READY

Before anything else, discuss the process with your family. Tell them what's going to happen and the approximate duration of the project. Tell them to steer clear of work areas, and let them know how to use alternative areas of the home for their day-to-day living needs.

ADVISE THE NEIGHBORS

And while communication is important in your home, don't forget to advise your neighbors of your project. Making neighbors aware goes a long way toward having their support as you upgrade your new living space. Monopolizing all the on-street parking for months tends to alienate the friendliest of neighbors. Just a little heads-up about your remodel will go a long way.

COMMUNICATE WITH YOUR CONTRACTORS

When it comes to managing contractors, you can count on a Waypoint® authorized designer to guide you. They'll help set a schedule, determine hours of work and assist with many project-related details that will maintain sanity in your home throughout your remodel. Safety is paramount, so be sure to insist that your contractors put away all power tools every night to eliminate the possibility of an accident. Yes, your patience will be tried a time or two, but the results will, without a doubt, be amazing.

COLOR YOUR WORLD

Finding a color palette for your new living space is as easy as opening your eyes. Look around. See colors that appeal to you. Choose only colors you are drawn to. Let the seasonal fall colors inspire you: soft golden orange, deep brown, leaves and sky. Or maybe you're inspired by colors that are natural but vibrant—like a basket of artichokes at a farmers' market. Or get inspired by a neutral room setting with spots of color from your magazine. Look everywhere—and if you really get stuck, check your closet. There's likely a favorite sweater, dress or piece of clothing to inspire a color palette that's exactly what you had in mind.

PICKING YOUR PAINT COLOR

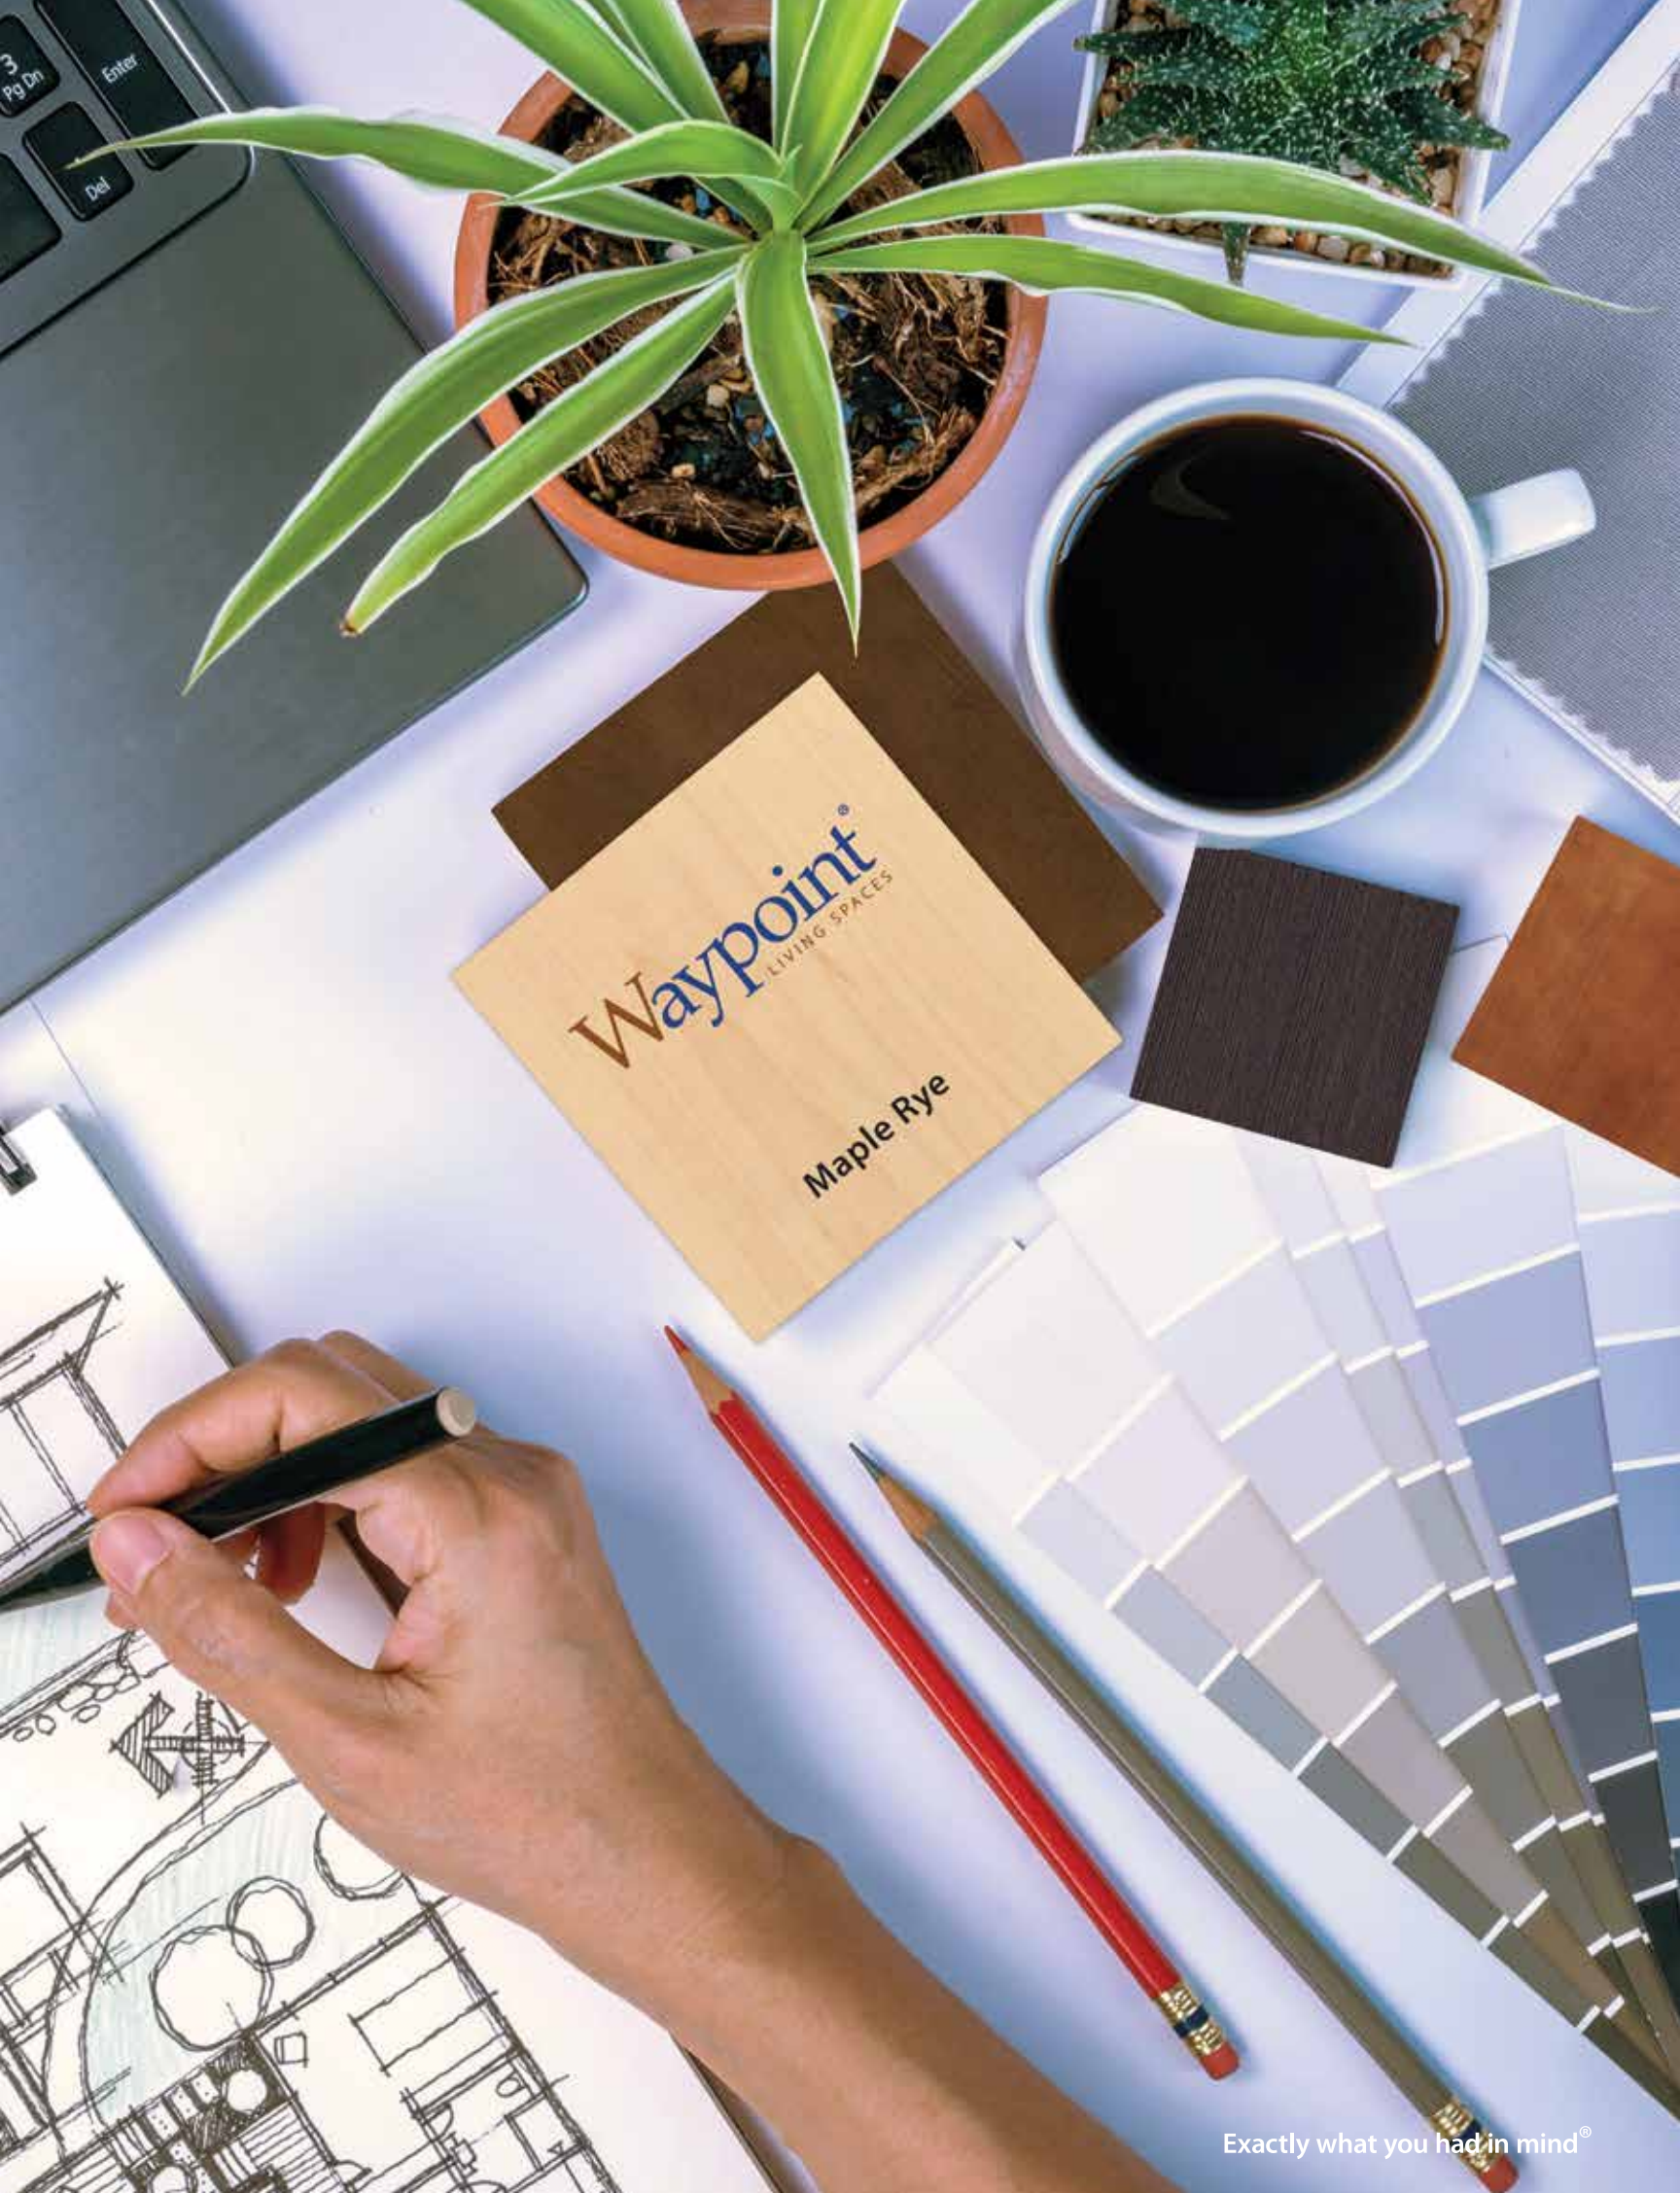

Picking the right paint color for your living space can seem daunting. Here are some guidelines to help you pick the best color for your space and create the feeling you're looking to achieve.

FIND INSPIRATION. Don't pick your color for the room first. You need to draw inspiration from the pieces that will be in that room, such as a piece of furniture, a rug or a favorite piece of artwork.

DON'T OVERSATURATE. Keep a balance with a neutral base palette and vibrant, colorful accents. Typically, you want to keep your paint mainly neutral and accent with colorful furniture and accessories, or maybe an accent wall. However, if you really want brightly colored walls, make sure the furniture and accessories in the room are neutral colors to balance it out.

USE TESTERS. Paint large swatches of different colors on a wall before making your final decision on color and sheen. Leave them for up to a week so you can experience them at different times of day and with different lighting.

ADDING MORE COLOR. Once you have your basic paint picked out, you might decide the room is not colorful enough for you. An easy way to add more color is to play up monochromatic color schemes by adding an accent color that is a cooler or warmer version of the initial color. Using a color wheel will make this much easier. Another technique using a color wheel is picking a complementary color—colors that are across from each other create a very intense and vibrant feeling when used together.

THE NATURAL COLOR & BEAUTY OF WOOD

The wood for every cabinet door created by Waypoint® is carefully selected. Mother Nature insists on originality, so the characteristics of the wood grain and finish, whether in Cherry or Maple, will naturally vary slightly from piece to piece. But when it all comes together, homeowners are certain to be satisfied with the look, style and “Wow” of their new living space.

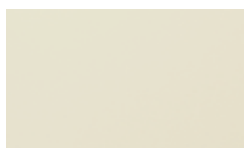

CHERRY

Cherry is a close-grained, multicolored hardwood with occasional pin knots and fine grain variations appearing as curls and waves. Streaking, knots and subtle color variations are what give this wood its unique character. Its color typically darkens some over time.

MAPLE

Maple is an exceptionally hard, finely grained wood species with a fine, even texture. Many love the darker stains that moderate the color variance and lighter stains that mellow with golden hues over time.

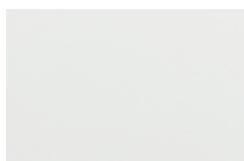

PAINTED

Long-lasting painted finishes on hardwood frames with furniture board center panels are a strong choice, with superior stability, consistency and coverage.

DURAFORM DELIVERS STYLE AT A GREAT VALUE

This state-of-the-art door is durable and can achieve many looks.

DURAFORM — D SERIES

Duraform uses foils and coatings bonded to composite wood material, creating cabinets that are highly resistant to warping, heat, humidity and fading.
